Pet Friend Spotlight

Tug

"I'm Tug from Q dock! I'm 3 years old and I've always lived aboard. I'm not the most seaworthy of animals, but what I don't have in a strong stomach I make up for with my friendliness. Everyone on P and Q docks knows me, I love to cheer on race boats as they pass by on our fairway. Boaters calling out "Hi, Tugboat!" are guaranteed a win because everyone knows I'm good luck. My favorite thing is going boat to boat on a raftup to visit my friends, making sure everyone is behaving, and trying out new and old laps for maximum comfort."

Marina Resource Blake Johnston

"I worked at the fuel dock part-time while in college, then the owner asked me to manage it full-time. It's been my baby for a few years now. I've stocked the coolers with a selection of local brews and specialty drinks, not to mention our killer ice cream freezer. People come here for fuel and I give them the treat they didn't know they needed, but are so happy to have. We are here 7 days a week, all year 'round. My goal is to be a friendly spot for marina folks to drop in and say "Hi." Nothing's better than a neighborhood place to call your own."

Marina Neighbor Samantha Haney

"We bought our boat in 2004. She's a J-40 sailboat named Malolo, which means "rest and heal" in Samoan. I started teaching sailing in the early 2000s. I got my 100 ton captain license and branched into boat delivery. Now we split our time between the PNW and Hawaii. I get to drive twin engine pontoon boats full of happy vacationers. While they snorkel in off -the -beaten- path places, I tell them the history of the Hawaiian Islands. What's not to love? Over the years we've upgraded our baby to fit our life as our needs change. Malolo is the perfect boat for us, we love sailing her all around the PNW. Summers are so gorgeous here."
